CAREER BRIEF

Nathan Dietz, Ph.D. joined the Do Good Institute (DGI) in March 2017 as an Associate Research Scholar after over twenty years of conducting and managing research projects in government, the nonprofit sector, and academia. His research with DGI focuses on social capital, volunteering, charitable contributions, civic engagement and social entrepreneurship. In addition, he has taught a graduate course in State, Local and Nonprofit Financial Management (PLCY 688F) since 2018, has an extensive record of service both within and outside of the university, and has been widely quoted and frequently invited to participate in public conversations about philanthropy, civic engagement, and the nonprofit sector.

Dr. Dietz is the author or coauthor of all of DGI's published research reports, and has served as the principal investigator for two externally funded research projects on strategic volunteer engagement and the social determinants of generosity. His other recent publications include articles in peer-reviewed journals such as Nonprofit Management and Leadership, Nonprofit and Voluntary Sector Quarterly, the American Journal of Community Psychology, and Nonprofit Policy Forum. He currently serves as Associate Editor for Quantitative Methodology for Nonprofit and Voluntary Sector Quarterly, and as the chair of the Data and Analytics Section of ARNOVA (the Association for Research on Nonprofit Organizations and Voluntary Action).

In 2013, he joined the Urban Institute's Center on Nonprofits and Philanthropy as a Senior Research Associate. While at Urban, he served as principal investigator for several research and evaluation projects, including four evaluations of AmeriCorps grantees; served the Associate Director for the National Center for Charitable Statistics, the national clearinghouse of data on the nonprofit sector in the United States; and led the Urban Institute's participation in the (nonprofit) Growth in Giving Initiative and the Fourth Sector Mapping Initiative.

Immediately prior to joining the Urban Institute, Dr. Dietz served as Senior Program Manager at the Partnership for Public Service. In that position, his research focused on the use of administrative data by government agencies; leadership development "pipeline" programs that feed the Senior Executive Service; and federal pay and compensation reform. From 2002 through 2012, he worked at the Corporation for National and Community Service (CNCS) and was serving as Associate Director for Research and Evaluation. At CNCS, he worked extensively in strategic planning, performance measurement, grantmaking, procurement and contract management. He also played a major role in designing and implementing national surveys on volunteering and civic engagement, which were implemented as supplements to the Current Population Survey.

Prior to government service, he held an appointment as Assistant Professor of Political Science in the School of Public Affairs at American University. He earned a master's degree and a Ph.D. in political science from the University of Rochester; his doctoral thesis won the fourth annual award for Best Dissertation in the Field of Presidency Research, sponsored by the Center for Presidential Studies at the George Bush School of Government and Public Service at Texas A&M University. He graduated cum laude from Northwestern University, with a bachelor's degree with dual-major in Political Science and Mathematical Methods in Social Sciences.

- Served as principal investigator for LISC (Local Initiatives Support Corporation) evaluation of the effects of service on AmeriCorps members, 2016-2020.
- Served as principal investigator for evaluation of volunteer management capacity of NYC Civic Corps AmeriCorps sites, 2017-2019.
- Served as principal investigator for NYC City Service Corps evaluation of the effects of service on AmeriCorps members, 2017-2019.
- Served as associate director of the National Center for Charitable Statistics; duties included managing work for the National Science Foundation's survey of research and development in the nonprofit sector.
- Served as principal investigator for an assessment of Financial Opportunity Centers operated by LISC (Local Initiatives Support Corporation), 2014-2016.
- Served as research director for the Growth in Giving Initiative, which is designed to promote effectiveness as opposed to efficiency (minimal cost) in fundraising.
- Led the Urban Institute's involvement in the Fourth Sector Mapping Initiative, which is designed to gather information about "for-benefit" organizations (which earn a substantial portion of their income through commercial activities and are motivated primarily by social purposes).
- Led a research project that examined how grantees of the Healthcare Professions Opportunity Grants (HPOG) program use performance information.

2012-2013     Partnership for Public Service Washington, DC

Senior Project Manager, Research Team

- Coauthor of report on civil service reform, published April 2014. Co-leader for the sections on pay and compensation reform and leadership and professional development; main liaison with the Office of Personnel Management about pay and compensation issues.
- Led the Senior Executive Service (SES) Pipelines project, a mixed-method study of executive leadership development in federal agencies, and coauthored report (published July 2013).
- Coauthor of report on Mission Analytics (the use of performance measures and other internal data to improve agency and program management), published October 2012.
- Coauthor and data analyst on an issue brief that assesses the early-term attitudes and experiences of Presidential Management Fellows, published November 2012.
- Methodological advisor for the Center for Government Leadership's programs at the Department of Education, which are sponsored by multi-year grants from the Gates Foundation and the Broad Foundation. Advised on questionnaire design and data collection strategies, and on analysis and interpretation of quantitative and qualitative evidence from the program assessments.

2002-2012     Corporation for National and Community Service Washington, DC

Associate Director for Research and Evaluation, Office of Strategy and Special Initiatives Research Associate / Statistician, Department of Research and Policy Development

Research Project Management and Administration:

- Assisted Chief Strategy Officer with formulation and management of evaluation plan (total budget, fiscal year 2011: $8 million).
- Oversaw contractor selection and procurement process for all evaluation and research projects, 2011. Served as COTR with responsibility for managing the project budget, timetable and staff (internal and contractor) for many projects.
- Developed and managed several interagency agreements with the Department of Labor (separate agreements with the Employment and Training Administration and Bureau of Labor Statistics), U.S. Census Bureau, and National Science Foundation.
- Managed a multiyear study conducted by the National Academies of Science to study government data collection on civic engagement and social capital. Final report available at <http://www.nap.edu/catalog/18831/civic-engagement-and-social-cohesion-measuring-dimensions-of-social-capital>.
- Managed cooperative agreements with Johns Hopkins University (Center for Civil Society Studies), Harvard University (Saguaro Seminar), and Washington State/Duke University, resulting in the publication of several peer-reviewed articles.
- Analyzed data, managed teams of internal staff and contractors, assisted with website design, wrote research briefs, and disseminated results for the annual releases of the Volunteering and Civic Life in America (<http://www.volunteeringinamerica.gov/>) website.

Program Evaluation and Performance Measurement:

- Led the Performance Measurement in Senior Corps initiative, including leading a working group of project directors. Managed contracted work by Westat on questionnaire design, sampling, data collection, technical support to the field, and analysis of results. Analyzed qualitative and quantitative data for national reports. Worked with program office to use data for internal policymaking.
- Led the group that designed the evaluation and assessment strategy for the 2010 AmeriCorps pilots for national performance measures and fixed-amount grants. Managed a contracted assessment of the 2010 pilots for national performance measures and fixed-amount grants, assisted with the qualitative and quantitative data analysis, and presented data to program offices.
- Collected and analyzed trend data and developed targets for national performance measures used in 2011-2015 and 2006-2010 CNCS strategic plans.
- Researched potential national performance measures and advised CNCS program offices on performance measurement for AmeriCorps State and National, Senior Companion Program, Foster Grandparent Program, NCCC, VISTA, the Social Innovation Fund, and the Volunteer Generation Fund.
- Co-designed grantee performance measurement modules in eGrants, the electronic grants management used by CNCS grantees. Worked with software developers to implement and test new system and to design standard reports.
- Methodological advisor for CNCS' contracted evaluation studies, including but not limited to: Senior Companions Quality of Care Study (COTR), AmeriCorps Longitudinal Study, National Evaluation of Service Learning Programs, Youth Corps evaluation, Parent Corps evaluation, and YouthBuild evaluation.
- Methodological advisor for the 2012 grantee evaluation guidelines for the Social Innovation Fund.

- Oversaw an internal process assessment of the Social Innovation Fund, a new grantmaking program authorized by the Serve America Act.

Policy Analysis, Modeling and Simulations:

- Conducted research that was used to develop the escalating scale of required matching-funds percentages for AmeriCorps State and National programs. Conducted and submitted an OMB analysis showing that small organizations would not be unjustly harmed by the policy.
- Created data dashboards for AmeriCorps grant competitions that showed portfolio characteristics under various decision rules and strategies.
- Assessed the National Service Trust liability estimation model following 2002 agency crisis. Worked with Econometrica, Inc. and CFO to sharpen liability model's predictive accuracy.
- Managed the project designed to produce official agency estimates of the return on investment from CNCS grants to national service programs.
- Developed a return on investment model for independent living service programs, which demonstrated that service programs realize a substantial return on investment by delaying the institutionalization of clients.
- Created national population projection models for Baby Boomer and older adult volunteers (for example, see http://www.nationalservice.gov/pdf/07\_0307\_boomer\_projections.pdf).
- Led a team of data analysts who collected, cleaned and validated historical grantmaking data used for AmeriCorps rulemaking analysis. Data was later used to estimate multivariate models of fill rates and attrition rates for AmeriCorps programs, and to predict unexpended program funds.

Survey Design and Analysis:

- Main liaison with U.S. Census Bureau and Bureau of Labor Statistics for the Current Population Survey supplements on Volunteering and Civic Engagement. Duties include questionnaire design and testing, managing the cooperative agreements, negotiating with Census and BLS on questionnaire revisions, and data validation and documentation.
- Assisted with design of two waves of the National Youth Civic Engagement and Volunteering Survey, conducted in partnership with the U.S. Census Bureau.
- Assisted Census statisticians with the development of weights that used prior volunteering status to control for possible nonresponse bias. Weights were designed for the National Youth Civic Engagement and Volunteering Survey and later adapted for the CPS Survey on Civic Engagement.
- Developed and implemented a member satisfaction survey for the My AmeriCorps Member Portal. Duties included performing analysis of member enrollment data to develop eligibility requirements, working with database managers to write queries and validate reports, and analyzing data.
- Oversaw the development of a volunteering module for the Panel Study of Income Dynamics, in partnership with the Center on Philanthropy at Indiana University.

1998-2002     American University Washington, DC
Assistant Professor, Department of Government, School of Public Affairs

- Co-designed the curriculum for Ph.D. research methods courses at American University's School of Public Affairs.
- Designed and taught required Ph.D. courses on research design and applied regression and the school's first course in Advanced Quantitative Methods, with a focus on maximum likelihood techniques.

- Taught courses in The Presidency and Executive Branch Politics; Political Methodology and Econometrics; American Political Parties; Interest Groups and Lobbying; Applied Microeconomics; and Public Policy Analysis.
- Research specialties included presidential-congressional relations, legislative behavior, applied econometrics, trade policy, game theory, bargaining and coalition building, the theory of institutions, policy diffusion, electoral structures, and the civil rights movement.
- Advised undergraduate and graduate students on doctoral dissertations and independent research projects; supervised research assistants and teaching assistants.
- Served on search committees that resulted in the hiring of three tenure-track faculty members, and of Walter Broadnax as Dean of the School of Public Affairs.
- Served as a referee for American Political Science Review, American Journal of Political Science, Journal of Politics, Political Research Quarterly, Women & Politics, Economics and Politics, Congress and the Presidency, and Perspectives on Political Science. Presented original research and served as a discussant or panel chair at several conferences.
- Participated in a nationally televised discussion on C-SPAN about presidential-congressional relations.
